

JUDY BLAIR

FACILITATOR

Striving for racial equity is hard work, and sometimes you just need a little help.

Judy is available for one on one coaching sessions tailored to white folks who are looking to strengthen their analysis of racial oppression in the workplace or in their personal lives.

Especially helpful for executives or upper-level managers who need to understand how their leadership affects their teams, these sessions provide in-depth, personalized coaching and concrete follow-up activities that lead to positive results.
