

JUDY BLAIR

FACILITATOR

A colloquy is a chance for people to get together and talk about a particular subject, in this case anti-racism work.

This service is an opportunity for white folks in particular to learn about and understand the systems of oppression we all live within and move forward into a place of accountable action.

Because anti-racism work involves a lifetime of learning, colloquies are intended to be ongoing rather than single instances. Find out how your group can benefit from colloquies.

Rates are project-based and tailored to your needs.

Inquire for more information.

judy@judy-blair.com
judy-blair.com
pronouns: she/her
racial identity: white